1964-65 NEW YORK KNICKERBOCKERS

COACH EDDIE DONOVAN

This is Eddie Donovan's fourth season as coach of the New York Knickerbockers. He is 41 years old, a resident of Elizabeth, N. J., and prior to taking over the Knicks on May 8, 1961, he coached St. Bonaventure University's court teams for eight years. He led the Bonnies to the final of the 1960 Holiday Festival, in Madison Square Garden, losing to Ohio State by two points. St. Bonaventure, under Donovan, competed in four straight National Invitation Tournaments, in New York, and in the 1961 National Collegiate championship. His eight-year won-loss record was 139-57. Donovan was named 1961 "Coach of the Year" by the New York Basketball Writers Assn., after the Bonnies had posted a 24-4 mark and were repeatedly No. 2 or 3 in the weekly national polls conductd by the Associated Press and United Press-International. The mild-mannered, crew-cut Donovan is a figure of dignity, dedication and detail and popular with players, fans and sportswriters. Donovan, who came out of the New Jersey playgrounds and Elizabeth's St. Patrick's High School, enrolled at St. Bonaventure in 1946. He played basketball there three years, but retired because of a broken hand in his senior season to coach the freshman team. Following a Navy hitch he joined the St. Bonaventure faculty in 1953 after teaching in the Olean, N. Y., public school system and coaching the Olean High School team. His two-year scholastic record was 30 victories in 39 starts, including a sectional championship.

KNICKS' SATURDAY BROADCASTS ON WOR—HOME AND AWAY

Lester Smith

All Knickerbocker Saturday night games this season, both home and away, are being broadcast by WOR-Radio (710 on the dial).

Lester Smith and Stan Lomax are handling the play-by-play and color highlights of the contests which are sponsored by Budweiser Beer. Smith is a veteran radio and television man and one of the most versatile announcers in the industry.

Stan Lomax

Les, who joined WOR in 1957, excels in both the news and sports fields. He has covered a wide range of events including Presidential election campaigns, political conventions as well as basketball, football, baseball, hockey, tennis, golf and racing. He won a TV-Guide Gold Medal for his work during the 1952 election.

For seven seasons, Smith has done radio broadcasts of Army football and Knick basketball for Sports Network and RKO General pay television of Hartford, Conn. Prior to joining the WOR staff, Les was head of the Yankee Network Sports and Special Events departments at WNAC Radio-TV in Boston, handling the mike for Boston Celtic-TV games in Boston Garden.

Lomax is radio sports director for WOR. In the 35-odd years he has been covering sports Stan has seen all of the great headliners in action. He was born in Pittsburgh and after high school, where he played basketball, baseball and football, he attended Cornell and Hobart, playing end on the grid teams.

Stan made his radio debut in 1930, on WOR, after writing sports for the New York Journal-American. His boss at WOR was sports Commentator Ford Frick. When Frick left in 1934 to become president of the National League, Lomax was made station sports director. He has held the job ever since.

Lomax has received many awards. He received two plaques from the Police Athletic League for aiding youngsters through sports. The Eastern College Athletic Conference coaches named him "Man of the Year" in 1958. Stan has piled up many memories in his years behind the mike. He was the last person to interview Babe Ruth. In the world of basketball Lomax calls Bob Cousy, the greatest he saw, and his biggest sports thrill was Don Larsen's perfect game in the 1956 World Series.

JIM BARNES

Age*—23, born in Tuckerman, Ark., April 13, 1941
Height*—6 feet 8 inches. Weight—240 pounds
Home*—Stillwater, Okla. College—Texas Western

Knicks' first draft choice and a member of the U. S. Olympic team, Barnes was nicknamed "Bad News" because of what he did to Texas Western opponents. He was the greatest basketball player in Texas Western history. In his senior year he established five individual records and led his team to five TWC standards. Jim was the ninth best scorer among major college performers with an average of 29.1 points per game on a shooting percentage of .562, 14th best in the country, fifth best rebounder with a norm of 19.2 and had the fourth best individual game performance with 51 points against Western New Mexico. The school marks he created were: number of points in one year (816), number of points in two years (1,308), average points per game, rebounds (537) and free throws scored (218). His senior year points broke the school mark by over 300 and his two year total was close to 200 more than TWC's three-year record. Barnes began his college career at Cameron J. C. in Oklahoma. In his freshman season he scored 749 points in 26 games and pulled down 353 rebounds. The next year he chalked up 949 points in 31 contests with 464 rebounds. Jim is fast for a player his size being clocked in 10 seconds flat for the 100 yard dash. He is extremely strong and goes to the boards well. Coaches throughout the nation whose teams faced Barnes had nothing but praise for the All-America. Troy Bledsoe, of Denver, said: "We faced a lot of outstanding players last season, but no one 'killed' us the way Barnes did. He is the type of player who is unstoppable, one who can beat you all by himself." Bobby Roberts, of Clemson, said of Jim: "When he decides to go to the basket there's nothing in the world that can stop him."

KNICKS REACHED PLAYOFF FINAL THREE TIMES

The Knicks' best season was 1952-53 when they led the Eastern Division with 47-23, a .671 percentage. They also topped the division the following season (44-28) but were defeated both times in the playoffs. The 1952-53 loss to the Minneapolis Lakers marked the third straight season the Knicks had reached and been defeated in the final playoff round.

BOB BOOZER

Age*—27, born in Omaha, Neb., April 26, 1937
Height*—6 feet 8 inches. Weight—225 pounds
Home*—Cincinnati. College—Kansas State

Boozer is in his fifth season of pro ball and first full one with the Knicks. He was obtained in a mid-season deal with the Cincinnati Royals. Top draft choice of the Royals in 1959, after twice winning All-America honors at Kansas State, Bob played one year with the Peoria Cats of the NIBL. Before joining Cincinnati he was a member of the U. S. Pan-American squad in '59 and the Olympic team in 1960. In the 1962 NBA playoffs he had a .561 field goal percentage, the best of any player. Forced off the starting team when the Royals signed Jerry Lucas, Boozer became available to the Knicks and moved right into New York's first five. He experienced his best pro season scoring 1,208 points. His total points were the second best on the club, topped only by Len Chappell. His 596 rebounds were third to Johnny Green and Chappell. An exceptionally fine jump-shooting forward, Boozer had the distinction of being the only player in the NBA last year to appear in 81 regular season games, one over the limit played by each club.

EMMETTE BRYANT

Age*—25, born in Chicago, Ill., Nov. 4, 1939
Height*—6 feet 1 inch, Weight—175 pounds
Home*—Chicago, Ill. College—DePaul

Hampered by injuries through his collegiate career Bryant, nevertheless, is one of the fastest backcourt men in the country. He has been clocked in 9.8 for 100 yards. In his junior year, before being sidelined by illness, he led DePaul to the Motor City Tournament championship. Last year Emmette paced DePaul to a 13-game winning streak at the start of the season before hurting his left ankle. He didn't return to action until the opening round of the National Invitation Tournament in Madison Square Garden. The "Poet," as he is called by his teammates, averaged 18.3 points for the 13 regular season contests. In addition his rebounds averaged 10 per game and his assists eight. He has a fine outside shot and is an excellent driver. Emmette, who plays with a brace on his ankle as a result of last year's injury, gained most of his basketball knowledge in the Air Force. He was determined to continue his education after his discharge and what better way than through basketball. The bug had bit him in high school and he had starred for his Canal Zone team during his four year stint for Uncle Sam. After junior college he entered DePaul. He was tabbed a future star by coach Ray Meyer, but in his first varsity season he was dropped from the team because of scholastic difficulties. However, he regained his eligibility in Summer school and returned for his junior year. But once again his career suffered a setback as he was stricken with hepatitis. He returned in time to play with DePaul in the 1963 NIT. Last year it was the broken ankle which put him on the bench in mid-season. Overall, he played in less than 30 varsity games for DePaul.

DAVE BUDD

Age*—26, born in Woodbury, N. J., Oct. 28, 1938
Height*—6 feet 6 inches. Weight—205 pounds
Home*—Woodbury, N. J. College—Wake Forest

A solid ballplayer who comes off the bench in key spots, Budd is in his fifth season with the Knicks. An excellent rebounder with a fine shot, he is a dedicated team player and would rather look for the free man than take the shot himself. Dave excells on defense and usually draws the assignment of handling the opposing team's top forwards. Under the boards he holds his own against the bigger centers, too. Budd, who first hit the national headlines at Wake Forest, led the Deacons in scoring and rebounding in his sophomore and junior years. He sparked Wake Forest to the 1959 Dixie Classic title and to a first place tie with North Carolina in the Atlantic Coast Conference. His Wake Forest career totals were 1,014 points, a 13.5 average for 75 games, and 682 rebounds, a 9.1 norm. He was New York's No. 2 draft choice in 1960, being strongly recommended by his coach Bones McKinney, a former NBA star with Washington and Boston. Dave's value is borne out by the fact that after New York had lost him through the expansion draft in 1961 when Chicago (now Baltimore) joined the league, the Knicks bought him back before the season began.

Age*—23, born in Portage, Pa., Jan. 31, 1941
Height*—6 feet 8 inches. Weight—240 pounds
Home*—Portage, Pa. College—Wake Forest

The Knicks' leading scorer last season with 1,350 points in 79 games for a 17.1 average, Chappell was purchased from the Philadelphia 76ers, Oct. 21, 1963, one game after the season had begun. First draft choice of the Syracuse Nationals (now Philadelphia) in 1962, the rugged forward played in 80 games for the Nats his rookie year. Averaging only 15 minutes of playing time per game, he scored 8.9 and hit on 46.5 percent of his field goal attempts. In addition, he grabbed 461 rebounds. Len moved into the starting lineup after joining New York and steadily improved his average and rebounding. By the end of the season he was the club's second best rebounder behind Johnny Green. Chappell, an All-America as a senior at Wake Forest, totalled 2,165 points in his three year varsity career with the Deacons, a record for the Atlantic Coast Conference. He was selected to the league's All-Star team three seasons and the outstanding player in two. In addition, he was chosen the ACC's Athlete-of-the-Year as a senior. Len had a three-year scoring average of 24.9 at Wake Forest with 14 rebounds per game. While a sophomore with the Deacons he was a teammate of Dave Budd. Chappell collected 2,240 points in high school at Portage, Pa., only 12 less than Wilt Chamberlain at Overbrook H. S. in Philadelphia. He is another in the growing number of athletes who wear contact lenses.

JOHNNY EGAN

Age*—25, born in Hartford, Conn., Jan. 31, 1939
Height*—6 feet. Weight—180 pounds
Home*—Hartford, Conn. College—Providence

One of the smallest and fastest men in the NBA, Egan is in his fourth season of pro ball and first complete campaign with the Knicks. New York acquired the speedy backcourt act from the Detroit Pistons, along with Larry Staverman, on Dec. 16, 1963 via a trade which sent Dennis Butcher, Bob Duffy and Hub Reed to the Pistons. He was the second draft pick of Detroit in 1961 after setting all individual scoring records at Providence and leading the Friars to the runnerup spot in the 1960 National Invitation Tournament and the NIT championship the following year. Used primarily as a sub with the Pistons, Egan moved right into a starting role with the Knicks. The club's play picked up immediately as John's playmaking elevated him into the league's assist leaders. A protege of the great Bob Cousy, he was an outstanding high school performer. In his junior and senior years he led Weaver High, in Hartford, to the state championship and the New England crown the latter season. His play in that tournament earned him the MVP title and All-America High Schol honors. John has large hands which give him excellent ball control. He has the knack of "suspending" himself in the air while driving for the basket, and this enablems him to either shoot or pass off.

TOM GOLA

Age*—31, born in Philadelphia, Jan. 13, 1933
Height*—6 feet 6 inches. Weight—205 pounds
Home*—Philadelphia. College—LaSalle

Oldest veteran on the Knicks in length of service in the NBA, Gola is in his ninth season of pro ball. Ranked among the all-time greats as a collegian, he was acquired by New York on Dec. 5, 1962 in a trade which sent Willie Naulls and Kenny Sears to the San Francisco Warriors. After graduating from LaSalle, where he was three times All-America, Tom joined the Warriors who were then in Philadelphia. Although not one of the league's high scorers, Gola is proof of how valuable a solid bal player can be. Famed for his hustle, superb ball handling and defense, Tom plays either guard or forward, but has concentrated on the former since becoming a Knick. Five times in his pro career, Gola has been selected to play in the NBA's annual All-Star game. Last year he made the squad despite being hampered by injuries throughout the season. Although not up to par, he still was second on the Knicks in assists, behind Johnny Egan, and fourth in rebounding. During the past off-season, Tom was a member of a league squad which made a State Department tour of Europe and Africa which took him behind the Iron Curtain. As a freshman at LaSalle he led the Explorers to the National Invitation Tournament title in 1952 and two years later paced his school to the National Collegiate championship. He was chosen most valuable player in the 1952 and 1954 Holiday Festivals and shared that honor with teammate Norm Grekin in the 1952 NIT.

JOHNNY GREEN

Age*—31, born in Dayton, Ohio, Dec. 8, 1933
Height*—6 feet 5 inches. Weight—200 pounds
Home*—Roosevelt, N. Y. College—Michigan State

"Jumping Johnny" was the Knicks' top rebounder for the third straight season last year and the club's third best scorer. His 799 rebounds were also the 11th best in the NBA, although he was competing against many centers and forwards who had a decided height advantage. It is not unusual for this 6-5 corner man to get his elbow over the rim of the basket. Green is also the most durable of the Knicks. Now in his sixth season with the club, he went into this campaign with a consecutive game streak of 251 and missed only one contest in the past four years. John was the No. 1 draft choice of the Knicks in 1959. Three seasons ago his 1,061 rebounds put him in second place behind Harry Gallatin who holds the Knicks board record of 1,098 for one campaign. Johnny was all-Big Ten three years at Michigan State even though he did not play basketball in high school. He first took up the sport while with the Marines. He was a unanimous all-service selection after leading Atsurgi Air Base (Japan) to the Central Command title.

ART HEYMAN

Age*—23, born in Rockaway, N. Y., June 24, 1941
Height*—6 feet 5 inches. Weight—205 pounds
Home*—Rockville Centre, N. Y. College—Duke

No. 1 draft choice of the Knicks last year, Heyman is an example of the hometown boy making good. After an outstanding career at Oceanside High School on Long Island, Art continued his sensational play at Duke where he was All-America for three years. In addition to setting a Blue Devil career mark of 1984 points, he was named Most Valuable Player in the 1963 National Collegiate A. A. tournament and in the East-West post-season game the same year. Art led the nation's major college scorers with 747 points (30 games) in his final year at Duke. A good rebounder, driver and playmaker, Heyman moved right into a starting guard spot when he joined the Knicks, although it was a new position to him. However, he showed his versatility by playing the forward spot on occasions. Fourth on the club in scoring last season, he was second only to club leader Len Chappell on average with a 15.4 mark. Heyman gained one distinction in his rookie season—he made more free throws than anyone else on the team.

Height*—6 feet 9 inches. Weight—230 pounds
Home*—New York. College—Villanova

One of the big men on the Knicks, Tom was acquired by New York from the Philadelphia 76ers at the start of last season. He was the number one draft choice of the 76ers in 1963 before the club moved from Syracuse. Although used primarily as a substitute in the early part of last season, Tom worked his way into a starting berth by the end of the campaign. A fine rebounder, whose scoring ability improved with added playing experience, Hoover was a nationally prominent basketball player and football end at Archbishop Carroll High School in the nation's capital. He was named to the All-America scholastic court team in 1959, the same year that Art Heyman was so honored.

HOWARD KOMIVES

Age*—23, born in Toledo, O., May 9, 1941
Height*—6 feet 1 inch. Weight—185 pounds
Home*—Toledo, Ohio.. College—Bowling Green

Southpaw Komives was the nation's leading scorer among major college players last season with an average of 36.7. During his carer at Bowling Green he averaged 25.9. Three times named to the All-Mid-American Conference team, Butch is the greatest scorer in BG history with a three-year varsity total of 1,834 points. His 844 points last season also was a school mark and was the third highest in the country. Princeton's Bill Bradley and Miami's Rick Barry, both of whom played more games, were the only major college performers to top Komives. He is fast, a good ball handler, shoots well from the outside, drives strongly on the basket and is an excellent foul shooter. Last season he had more free throw attempts than any major college player and was tied for 11th best with a .858 percentage. In addition, he was Bowling Green's best defensive player. Butch was a second round draft pick of the Knicks. Before working on the Knicks' Summer camp program during July and August, Komives spent the previous two summers as a house painter and as a driver for a soda company. A keen student of the game, Butch spends all his available free time during the off season playing basketball. Komives was all-city and all-state at Woodward High in Toledo before going to Bowling Green.

WILLIS REED

Age*—22, born in Hico, La., June 25, 1942
Height*—6 feet 10 inches. Weight—235 pounds
Home*—Bernice, La. College—Grambling

One of the top three big men to graduate last year, Reed was the Knicks' No. 2 draft choice. An excellent rebounder, Willis was second in that department among small college performers and fourth in the combined major and small college grouping. His 633 rebounds gave him an average of 21.1. He also has a fine outside shot with a field goal percentage of .600. From the free throw line he has a norm of close to .750. Reed scored 780 points in his senior year for a 26.0 average. During his career at Grambling, he scored 2,335 points to lead the Louisiana school to one National Athletic Intercollegiate Association title and three Southwestern Athletic Conference crowns. His credits include the Associated Press Little All-America 1962-63-64, United Press International All-America 1963-64, member of the U. S. Pan-American team in 1963, U. S. World Tournament squad in 1963 and NAIA All-America 1962-63-64. Willis was also selected to make a State Department sponsored trip with a team that was going to Russia, however, he preferred to stay home and get his degree. While his height and scoring are big assets, Knick coach Eddie Donovan has found another important factor in Willis' makeup. "He is coachable and extremely eager to learn," Donovan said. "You show or tell him something once and you don't have to repeat it." Reed does very well on defense using his 88-inch span and his 11 and a half sized feet he goes up in the air to the fullest. Before going to Grambling, Willis starred for his high school team in both basketball and football. He was All State in both sports.

BILL NORRIS—Team Trainer

Twenty-two year old Bill Norris has the distinction of being the youngest major league conditioner in the country. Norris, from Ft. Myers, Fla., is in his second season with the Knicks after serving with the New York Mets' Auburn farm team during the 1963 New York-Penn League baseball season.

Norris began preparation for a trainer's job when he was only 12 years old, as a batboy, and then assistant clubhouse man at the Pittsburgh Pirates' training camp in Ft. Myers.

Bill graduated from Ft. Myers High School in 1960 where he played baseball and football. He then enrolled at Manatee Junior College, in Bradenton, specializing in physiology.

The clubhouse bug bit him after three semesters in school and he joined the Milwaukee Braves' organization in 1962 at Dublin in the Georgia-Florida League.

Two years ago he attended a training school of Mets' Gus Mauch in Kissimmee, Fla. Upon graduation, he worked at the Mets' camp in St. Petersburg and the minor league camp at Columbus, Ga., before going to Auburn.
